

Grandma Xu's Lohas Village: Day Care Center

“Since my sons and daughters came with me the first time in March to Lohas Village, it is agreed unanimously to let me stay here. Now, it has been four months since I stay here with other grandpas and grandmas in retirement, living in a happy big family.”

“On Mother’s Day, we celebrated together with some school children who preformed the aboriginal dancing and singing. It was beautiful. They even gave us massage before they went back! Our Japanese and South Korean friends had donated wheelchairs and walking sticks for free use as well.”

“In June, a group of hairdresser came for free haircuts. I was the first in the line! We all admired the expertise with which they served us. Today, a puppet show troupe came and gave a fabulous performance of Zhu Bajie, a Chinese mythological figure. Oh, how I miss puppet show, for nowadays we can hardly find it instead of cinemas.”

“I have been carrying out a happy life in Lohas Village, where teachers teach earnestly. We have a lot of fun playing monopoly, number games, exercising, sketching. I am really grateful for their care and hardwork, and I hope my brothers and sisters will recover soon.”
